Everything You Need To Understand Today's Politics, Raise The Bar And Get Involved In Your Government

In our very divided political world millions of Americans are unhappy with the current situation, are not political and are now interested but don't know where to begin. It's taboo to admit you've never voted and politics is complicated so people don't get involved or have unclear messages. 'Welcome Hostess' Lisa Fontana- Author of 'Me, The People' believes it's time to fix that.

Because 42 states don't teach civics over 80 million people have never voted before.

Invite Lisa Fontana to create a party-free, friendly, comfort zone for your audience.

In this segment Lisa Fontana will walk you through:

- 1) Where to begin and how to get involved in your government.
- 2) How to have a political conversation without bloodshed.
- 3) How and why to be an ambassador and welcome people in.

The truest definition of government is: The Way We Are Together.
If it's about me, it's about you. If it's about you, it's about Me, The People.
That's worth talking about.

LISA FONTANA has extensive media experience as a former actor and voice-over artist but didn't cast her first vote for anything until she turned 35 years old! Now a deputy voter registrar for Illinois she runs hundreds of informal "Welcome Party Seminars" that cover basic civics and election issues.

Her mission: Welcome people to politics and government and unite citizens through civics.

Fontana wrote "Me, The People" to encourage non-voters to feel welcome and wanted in politics and their government. It was requested by Hillary Clinton during her listening tour and became a part of the fourth fight in the Hillary for America Campaign Launch Speech: Reforming Our Government and Revitalizing Our Democracy.
