Get Comfy In Your Country And Confident In Your Vote.

With the election in full swing, millions of new and current non-voters hold the presidential election in their hands...but literally don't know how to cast a vote. It's socially taboo to admit you've never voted before and politics in America can feel scary! Lisa Ann Fontana, author of 'Me, The People' and creator of Citizen Cupcakes, believes it's time to fix that.

Civics has been removed from most public schools across the country, which is largely why there are 92 million people who have never voted before.

In this segment invite Lisa Ann to walk your audience through:

1. How and why to throw a Comfy In Your Country Welcome Party.
2. How to use Cupcakes to disengage anger and engage in meaningful conversation.
3. For those 'in the know' - How and why to be an ambassador to current non-voters.

The truest definition of government is: The Way We Are Together.
If it's about me, it's about you. If it's about you, it's about Me, The People.
That's worth talking about.

LISA ANN FONTANA is an actor, speaker and voice-over artist with extensive media experience. She didn't cast her first vote for anything until she turned 35 years old! A Welcome Party Powerhouse, she created the character Citizen Cupcakes and Comfy In Your Country Welcome Parties to Welcome 92 million people to their government with the goal of putting democracy back where it belongs - in the hands of you and Me, The People.

"Avoid The Media, Think For Yourself was my favorite part! Coming from a place of sheer abhorrence of all things politics, watching these videos actually sparked my interest. I may never run for office, but being armed with knowledge to steer and understand a conversation I would normally run from was EMPOWERING!" (40 year old mom of 2)
